

February 2008

Dear Caring Friend,

Winter is passing, and soon it will be spring. This is a time of year when hearts are filled with optimism and hope.

But for more than 100,000 of our hungry neighbors here in the 26-county East Texas area, hope is elusive – no matter what the season. They will not have enough to eat today, tomorrow...perhaps for days to come.

I want to thank you for your concern for these people – and for the generous donations you have offered to help feed them. Because you care, we are asking for your help during our 2008 Annual Spring Campaign.

With your help, children who might otherwise go to bed hungry will have food to eat. Elderly neighbors will not have to choose between eating and paying for medicine. And working poor families will be able to feed their growing kids. Any donation is deeply appreciated!

At the East Texas Food Bank, we are blessed to have friends like you who share our commitment to fight hunger. You are a friend our hungry neighbors can always count on, and we can't thank you enough.

Please reach out with us again today to make a difference for the hungry among us.

With gratitude,
